The QE Index failed to surpass its 50-DMA again yesterday and slid lower on the back of profit-booking. The Index is showing a bounce back recently, on the expectations of some relief on geopolitical tensions. However, the Index has been struggling to go past its 50-DMA over the past few days, and consolidating below it. Meanwhile, a move above its 50-DMA currently near 10,670 is required for a move towards 10,730. Support is 100-DMA at 10,590.

The QE Index ended its three consecutive week winning streak and drifted lower last week. Meanwhile, the Index failed to make any further progress above its 200-WMA currently near 10,740, as geopolitical tensions continue. Acceptance above its 200-WMA is required for a further rebound towards its 50-MWA currently near 10,900. The Index has its immediate support near its 100-WMA currently near 10,590. However, any sustained dip below it can test the 10,500 level.

The QE Index slid lower on the back of geopolitical tensions and news flow. The Index slipped below both its 50-MWA currently near 10,950, and 100-MWA 10,520 in a single swoop, indicating the pressure is likely to stay further, until the situation stabilizes. However, the index managed to protect its 200-MWA currently near 10,030, which is the only positive takeaways. On the higher side, any acceptance above 100-MWA can test its 50-MWA. However, any sustained weakness below its 200-MWA can drag it down to test 9,550.
